

CRIES OF BABY FRIGHTEN OFF AN INCENDIARY

Father of Infant Finds Blaze and Oil-Soaked Rags in Tenement House.

Four families, occupying the three-story tenement at No. 414 Howard avenue, Brooklyn, are crediting their narrow escape from being burned to death or suffocated to the shrill cry of the three-month-old baby of Abraham Genselos and wife, who occupy the top floor.

Evidences of an attempt to burn the building, regardless of the sacrifice of human life, were found on each floor after the blaze in the basement was extinguished.

Shortly after 3 o'clock Genselos arose to warm some milk for the infant. Its persistent cries had awakened him. He at once smelled smoke. Racing through his flat for signs of fire, he continued his search until he came to the cellar. Under the staircase was a burning pile of rubbish and papers. Genselos shouted and hammered at the door of the janitor, Mrs. Mark Frankel, until he awakened her nine-year-old son, Frank, whom he dispatched to turn in an alarm. Two policemen responded to his calls, and the three set to work stamping out the blaze. With the aid of water they were able to quench the fire before the department arrived.

The police then investigated and found small piles of oil-soaked papers and rags on each floor. The burlap-lined walls on the second and third floor showed how the fire had planned the destruction of the building. It is believed that the cry of the child frightened him away.

Detectives have been detailed on the case.

KAISER KEEPS BUSY.

His Cigars and Beer Come from Germany.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Emperor William of Germany has made no change in his busy life at Hirschberg Castle. The mail boxes received from Berlin are exceptionally heavy and require much personal attention. He is at his desk two hours every day before breakfast. In addition, his correspondence sometimes makes it necessary for him to abandon his regular morning motor drive.

He declines to receive any visitor or to accept any of the many invitations he receives to shoot over neighboring estates. His health is improving; his only complaint is of the lack of sunlight. He has with him a supply of his favorite cigars and Pilsener beer from Germany.

MORE FEVER AT BARBADOES. BRIDGETOWN, Barbadoes, Nov. 22.—Seven cases of yellow fever have been reported here since Monday, one of them Mrs. Alleyne, wife of Dr. Alleyne, the resident surgeon-general of the hospital ashore, the other six cases among the crew of the British cruiser Indefatigable. Two seamen died.

BOOKMAKER'S ROLL IS SLIMMER BY $8

But Walker Wouldn't Settle
With Cabby Until Court
Talked About Jail.

James Walker, who says he is a bookmaker, boarded a cab in front of a Broadway restaurant early this morning. He had with him a bankroll and other things. According to Andy Fay, the skipper of the cab, Walker insisted on visiting all the hotels in New York's turpentine zone.

Eventually it came settlement time and Walker balked on paying $8 fare. As a result all hands went to the West Forty-seventh Street Station. There Walker was made to disgorge a roll of enormous size. He almost had to disrobe in order to extricate it from his trousers' pocket. It was all in one dollar bill.

Walker refused to strip off eight of the bills and hand them to the cabbie. The money wasn't his, he said, but was the property of a man who had bet him $2 on Baby Willie, which won at 50 to 1 at Benning's yesterday. In the West side court to-day, the magistrate gave Walker his choice of paying the eight or going to jail. Walker paid. The bookmaker says he lives at No. 312 West One Hundred and Eleventh street.

OFFICE RANSACKED; NOTHING IS TAKEN

When Patrick Henry Shores, negro janitor of the office at No. 241 West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, went to open up this morning he found the front door open and the entire place ransacked. So far as could be learned nothing had been taken, and no attempt was made to break into the safe. The office on the ground floor is occupied by George Ringer, a real estate dealer, the Sperry Popnam Coal Company and by a newspaper as a branch office.

Ten desks belonging to the real estate man and the coal company had been forced open. The papers left in them were scattered over the floor. Every drawer of the desks had been searched. So far the police have no clue.

MRS. SAGE BACK IN TOWN.

Mrs. Russell Sage's place at Lawrence, L. I., was closed yesterday and the owner left on a late train for Manhattan, where she will remain all winter.

Our Introductory Clothing Sales

Provide for Thanksgiving Requirements

They provide for them with a finished completeness that excludes all doubt of the excellence of our service—a service that is not rendered by any other store in New York. This is the LATEST and BEST improvement upon clothing stores—the VERY BEST clothing store the city has ever known with the BEST CLOTHING that the BEST American tailors make. These prominent truths are capable of immediate verification. Just as soon as you see WHAT WE ARE and WHAT WE SELL you will become a loyal customer. Let us convince you in a practical and lasting manner. Let us show you the suits and overcoats advertised to-day—advertised and sold at reduced prices for the purpose of introducing you to the largest and finest specialty store for men, young men and boys in the world. We describe our introductory offers interestingly, but the goods are more interesting.

Suits and Overcoats of Distinguished Make at $19.50

For This Introductory Sale We Include $25, $27.50 and $30 Values.

One of the strongest features of Friday and Saturday's Introductory Sale is an allotment of men's suits and overcoats at $19.50 that commanded $25, $27.50 and $30. When you put one of these garments on, observe the quality, the all-hand tailoring and the superb style swing; you will know, without being reminded, that you are securing something worth having.

The Overcoats—just make up your mind in advance what you want and you will find it at $19.50—reduced for this Introductory Sale from $25, $27.50 and $30. If you have not decided, the coats themselves will lead suggestions. There is every kind, made of beautiful rough materials, or smooth materials, the former in a variety of distinctive fancy effects. The very new Prince of Wales with patch pockets is especially adapted for promenade, but there are full box models reaching to the knees and a dozen other creations—the seeing of which means immediate approval. Choice at one price—$19.50

The Suits are of finest chevots and worsteds lined with princess serge, in plain and mixture effects. Plenty of browns, in different tones, and plenty of grays, as well as dark colorings. Some of the sleeves are plain—some have cuffs. Some of the pockets are the usual kind—some are patch pockets. The lengths are correct and the sizes so varied that men of all proportions can be perfectly fitted. Strikingly apparent that these suits are the $25, $27.50 and $30 kind. In our Introductory Sale all are placed on a price level—$19.50.

Men's Winter Suits and Overcoats at $14.00

Reduced from $20 and $25 for the Purpose of Introducing This Fine Store.

The Overcoats—Any style or any color you want; the smartest and dressiest models in New York. Black, Oxford and gray for those who prefer something quiet, and a great range of fancy materials, made long and loose, with patch pockets; exclusive, snappy clothes that possess individuality and distinctiveness.

Men's Overcoats from $25 to $50.

As many models as have been conceived, made of as many materials as there are manufactured—ultra fashionable—defying criticism—from $25 to $50.

Men's Suits from $25 to $50.

Business Suits and English Walking Suits in all the new tones of brown and gray mixtures, fresh from the shops of America's best tailors—from $25 to $50.

Young Men's Fine $15 to $16.50 Suits at $10.00

Coats measure up to 38 to fit the Husky Fellows.

About 200 young men's suits in sizes to fit all ages from 14 to 20 years, with 36 and 38 coat measurements for well-developed physiques. These suits are cut for young men, but there is no reason why men from 20 to 30 should not wear them. Inasmuch as they are made of an excellent quality of cheviot in gray and brown plaids and stripes and attractive gray and brown mixtures. Some of the sleeves have cuffs, some are plain. Durable serge lining throughout.

Men's Full Dress and Dinner Suits

Full Dress Suits from $25 to $65.

Dinner Suits from $20 to $50.

That is the story of prices, but it does not give the faintest hint of the great care we have exercised in making this feature of our store outrank anything heretofore undertaken. This is an exclusive gentlemen's wardrobe section occupying one big floor in a tastefully decorated room by itself.

OUR creations are positive style perfection.

WE FIT YOU AS EXACTLY AS THE VERY BEST TAILORS FIT YOU and give you choice of ten suitable fabrics
